OTHER PANELISTS ARE

Carl Davis, Jr. President & Executive Director, Silicon Valley Black Chamber of Commerce

Peter Kuo, CEO of Silicon Valley International Group and Dot Connector Loop Closer

ABOUT THE PANELISTS

Ruben Barrales: In addition to serving as CEO of the Latino Leadership & Policy Forum, Ruben is President of GROW-Elect. He has been President & CEO of the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce, Deputy Assistant to President George W. Bush and Director of White House Intergovernmental Affairs. He was formerly President and CEO of Joint Venture Silicon Valley Network and was the first Latino elected to the San Mateo Board of Supervisors. He has been listed three times as one of the "100 Most Influential Hispanics" in the United States.

ArLyne Diamond, Ph.D.: Dr. Diamond has devoted her life to helping others understand each other and resolve conflict. She has been President of numerous Jewish organizations, Professional Associations and Commissions and Community service groups. Multi-faceted, with a background in business, education, management and consulting, she currently consults to businesses of all sizes, offering transformative workshops in leadership, communication, diversity, conflict resolution and others. She has taught at various Universities in California and often appears on Radio and TV. ArLyne previously ran as a Republican for CA Assembly District 25

Carl Davis, Jr.: A visionary, strategic planner and relationship builder, Carl brings a rare mix of over 20 years of business management and leadership skills pertinent for teaching entrepreneurship and running the Silicon Valley Black Chamber of Commerce. He has recently been elected to the President's White House Council on Small Business and met with the Presidents of Tanzania and Zanzibar.

Peter Kuo, CEO: At age 14, Peter and his family left Taiwan and came to America to pursue the American Dream. Highly ambitious after school, Peter founded his own Insurance Agency, which currently has over 3,000 clients. In 2012 he also founded Silicon Valley International Group to help companies in Asia brand their products. Peter sits on several community boards and is an outstanding Tennis player. Currently, Peter is running for California State Senate, District 10.
